 IMPERIAL TRANS-ANTARCTIC EXPEDITION 1914-1916

 SCOTCH WHISKY
ANTARCTAGHÚ

MacKinnlay's Whisky famously accompanied Shackleton and his men on the ill fated 1914 Imperial Trans-Antarctic Expedition. Their ship the Endurance was gripped by sea ice and crushed. The crew were forced to stay on the ice for over a year before managing to haul and sail their lifeboat to Elephant Island, their first taste of dry land in 497 days. From there a small party made the perilous and stormy 15 day paddle to South Georgia to secured rescue. Incredibly all 28 men survived. A testament to their courage, resilience and ingenuity.
